Bicycle registration got under way here Monday afternoon when a large group of boys and girls filed past a police officer at the Seventh Ward fire station to have their bicycles given a rigid inspection before a tag is placed on the vehicle.

The insert in the picture above shows Barbara Hritz of 1023 North Cedar street with the first tag which was issued to her on Monday afternoon. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hritz.

Registration Of Bicycles Starts

First Bicycle Owners In City Register In Seventh Ward Monday Afternoon

Initial registration of bicycles here occurred yesterday afternoon pursuant to a city ordinance adopted some time ago, at the seventh ward fire department.

Thirty-seven owners registered their "bikes" and approximately 40 from the seventh ward remain to be registered at a future date.

The registrars, Traffic Policemen Clarence Welsh and Caroline Black, secretary to the chief of police, conducted the registration under the supervision of Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna.

Pa Newc Observes

Most prolific field crop in the city at the present time appears to be the hollyhocks.

Pa Newc has been informed by one housewife in the city, that already, her hollyhocks have reached a height of six foot three inches and are still going strong.

Weather conditions so far this summer, have certainly given the old timers something to meditate on. It has been many years since such a wet and cool summer has been experienced, they say.

The newly installed standards for the city street signs, are receiving a coat of silver paint at the hands of city painters. The men are working in the East Side section of the city.

A furnace fire was in use in at least one home in the city on Monday evening, Pa Newc is told. The warmth took the chill from the atmosphere and also aided in drying clothes that did not dry in the outside.

Melvin Shoaf of R. D. 8, city, was picking radishes from his garden on Monday. Among them he took out a freak: it was a red radish of 2½ inches diameter, from the root end of which had grown a good sized white icicle radish.

Charles Dillies of 409 Spruce street, reports that he has a hollyhock plant on his place that has grown to a height of eight feet, full of white blooms, there is also a four

4,550 Refugees Are Being Sent Back To France

Britain Announces Illegal Immigrants For Palestine Are Being Returned

REFUGEE CAMPS ARE OVERCROWDED (BULLETIN)

LONDON, July 22.—(INS)—British Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech-Jones told the House of Commons today that the more than 4,550 illegal Jewish immigrants who attempted to land in Palestine are being brought back to France.

He said they will be "received and disembarked."

Previously a foreign office spokesman intimated that all uncertified Jewish refugees to Palestine may be shipped back to the countries from which they came.

Return To Starting Place

The spokesman pointed out that international law provides that the legal immigrants may be returned to the territorial waters of the country from whence they came, and added:

"It is about time to put the Palestine situation into proper perspective."

"It is not an Anglo-Jewish struggle but, as the mandatory power, British must enforce the law. We consider 1,500 immigrants allowed each month to be a liberal policy."

Camps Overcrowded

Ordinarily, uncertified Jewish immigrants have been shipped to detention camps on Cyprus to await their admission under the quota. This time, with camps overcrowded, the refugees were shipped back to France.

Commenting on Paris reports that the deportees would be permitted to disembark at Villefranche-sur-Mer to obtain data regarding admission to Colombia, the British spokesman said the government has not been

Report Two More Immigrant Ships Are Intercepted

JERUSALEM, July 22.—(INS)—Unconfirmed reports that two more immigrant ships carrying 4,000 certified Jews were intercepted off the Palestine coast added fuel today to the Jewish community's long smoldering resentment against the British.

The usual air of tension was heightened by word that the 4,554 persons seized over the week-end when the "Exodus of 1947" was captured in a sensational sea battle have been sent back to France, from where they migrated to the holy land.

Fears were expressed that a fresh wave of extremist action may be the prelude to a stepped-up campaign by unified elements of the Jewish underground—including not only the militant Stern gang and Irgun Zvai Leumi, but also the relatively-moderate Haganah or "Jewish defense army."

Boy Makes Confession In Baby Killings At Massillon, O. Hospital

MASSILLON, O., July 22.—(INS)—Stark County Prosecutor D. Deane McLaughlin refused today to close his investigation of the deaths of two baby girls in Massillon City Hospital June 6 despite a formal statement by a six-year-old boy.

Roger Gue, of Navarre, O., told Massillon police chief Stanley W. Switzer yesterday that he took the babies from their cribs, played with them, dropped them on the floor and put them back into their beds. He was a patient in a room near the nursery room at the time.

Although Chief Switzer said that as far as he was concerned the boy's story closed the case, McLaughlin stuck to his original theory that the two infant girls were murdered.

"Our investigation continues," he asserted. The prosecutor said he had talked to young Roger's parents.

"Both expressed some doubt that Roger was telling the truth," McLaughlin said.

A private investigator, James Ellis, of Canton, and a Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph police reporter, Willard Schner, secured the confession from Roger.

They succeeded in getting the

Three Are Dead; Million Dollar Loss In Blaze

Oil Tank Explosions Fire Ravages Seven Blocks In Minot, N. D.

MINOT, N. D., July 22.—(INS)—Firemen fought today to confine flames to two oil tanks after a series of explosions and a fire that killed three persons, seriously injured four others and caused damage of over a million dollars in Minot, N. D.

Cause of the blasts and following fire which ravaged seven city blocks in the industrial center of this city of 17,000 was unknown. But fire and police officials considered the low casualty toll almost miraculous.

The first blast occurred about noon yesterday when a fuel tank of the Westland Oil Co. sent flaming oil spouting about other tanks in the area.

Additional Tanks Ignite

Nine additional tanks were ignited but police and residents of the Mouse River area had time to evacuate danger spots before other explosions ripped through the district.

An almost complete absence of wind also was credited with preventing more casualties and property damage.

The dead were identified by Chester Weston, 30; William Foster, 43, and Adam Runyon, 65.

At last count, the flames had either destroyed or damaged two produce houses, a grain elevator, a soft water plant, both the Westland Bulk Oil Station and the Texaco Oil Co. tanks nearby, a grocery store, a restaurant and a tavern.

Flood Control Funds Boosted

WASHINGTON, July 21.—(INS)—A Senate appropriations subcommittee has voted to give the War department 343 million dollars for flood control and rivers and harbors construction work in fiscal 1948.

The recommendation more than doubles the house amount for flood control and almost triples the house sum for rivers and harbors construction.

Chairman Gurney (R) S. D., announced that the action took into consideration President Truman's supplemental request for 250 million dollars worth of flood control work.

Gurney reported that his subcommittee approved 299 million, 900 thousand dollars for flood control construction, as against about 134 millions voted by the house in the original budget.

U. N. Will Seek To End Strife On Greek Border

By PIERRE J. HUSS (U. N. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., July 22.—The United Nations security council launches into a decisive week today in its bitter struggle to end Greek border strife through U. N. surveillance.

The 11-nation council is scheduled to meet this morning and again in the afternoon to tackle an American proposal for the creation of a semi-permanent supervisory frontier commission, a measure stubbornly opposed by Soviet Russia.

Counter-Proposal

The Soviet Union, however, has a counter-proposal before the council calling for the Balkan countries (Greece, on the one hand, and Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania on the other) to settle their dispute among themselves.

The Russian resolution also demands the removal of foreign troops and military personnel from Greece.

But the shadow of another local war already is threatening to creep over the deliberations of the security council as Indonesian Republican leaders announced they would appeal to the United Nations for intervention against the offensive launched by the Dutch army.

A direct appeal has not been received from Indonesia by the United Nations.

Continue Search For Slayer Of Farmhands

BADEN, Pa., July 22.—(INS)—State police and the Beaver county sheriff's office continued a wide-spread search for John Givens, 52, for questioning in the slayings of two farmhands at Mt. Gallitzin academy on the outskirts of Baden.

Givens, also a farmhand at the school, has been missing since Saturday morning, several hours before Joseph Neugebauer, 72, was found dying in a clump of weeds by one of the nuns at the school.

Neugebauer died Sunday in a Beaver Falls hospital.

After his death, officers found the body of Matthew Magana, 69, in a room he had shared with Givens at the academy. Magana, the coroner said, had been dead since Thursday.

Search for Givens was concentrated at West Brownsville, Pa., where he had registered for the draft, and at Denbo, Pa., where he formerly lived.

Strike Picket Held For Fraud

HARRISBURG, July 22.—(INS)—A strike picket who accepted 80 cents an hour while receiving $20 weekly jobless benefits from the state was under $300 bail today at Harrisburg pending a grand jury action on charges of fraud.

The picket was identified by Special State Deputy Attorney General Marley Baker, as Jack Ziegler, of Harrisburg. Baker said the state bureau of unemployment compensation had discovered that Ziegler had been paid to picket by the Bartenders and Waiters Union (AFL) during a walkout at a Harrisburg restaurant.

Report Troops Invade East Javanese Port

Warfare Continues In East Indies According To Reports During Day

HEAVY FIGHTING ON SUMATRA TOO (BULLETIN)

BATAVIA, July 22.—(INS)—The Dutch East Indies nationalist radio reported Netherlands invasion of an important East Javanese port.

A broadcast from Jogjakarta said that Dutch troops went ashore at Probolinggo in an amphibious operation and that fighting is under way in the town.

Attacked By Dutch Troops

The broadcast also said that Oerang, a small town south of Semarang, was attacked by Dutch troops. The Indonesians launched a counter-attack on the western sector of the Semarang front. One Dutch plane was said to have been shot down at Pandan near Malang.

Indonesian Premier Sjahrifoedin, broadcasting from Jogjakarta, appealed to the world and particularly friends in Australia to increase efforts toward preventing further bloodshed.

Heavy Fighting

Heavy fighting between Dutch and Indonesian forces reportedly spread to western Sumatra today, while Netherlands troops scored important advances in many sectors of embattled Java.

Dutch authorities announced that their military and amphibious forces—including marines who staged a twin-phased landing in eastern Java—reached all their immediate objectives and exceeded many. Then the Indonesian republican headquarters confirmed these statements.

Warships Engaged

A republican communique said there also was heavy fighting along the west coast of Sumatra, with the Dutch artillery pounding several villages on the fringe of Indonesian-held territory.

The republican communique, broadcast from the capital at Jogjakarta, claimed that Indonesian mortar batteries engaged two Dutch warships off Merak in western Java. Four direct hits were said to have been scored on one of the vessels during the engagement which supposedly ended last Sunday.

U. S. Awaiting Further Report On Indonesia

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(INS)—The State department today awaited fuller reports from The Hague and Batavia on developments in hostilities in Indonesia before deciding on what future steps may be taken to restore order.

It was believed unlikely that the United States would join Britain in the proffer of good offices in settling the dispute, although this course was not entirely ruled out in view of the fact that anything can be gained by such intervention.

United States Consul General Walter Foote has been active in Batavia in the past months presenting American views as the Dutch and Indonesian negotiators sought young boy to tell Chief Switzer what took place in the hospital where Roger was recuperating from a broken arm.

Roger made his statements before his parents and a court stenographer as well as Chief Switzer and the two men.

When questioned by Chief Switzer, Mrs. Gue said she felt Roger was telling the truth then although in earlier questionings she had doubted that he was giving accurate information.

Mrs. Gue also told Chief Switzer that Roger has never been told that the babies died.

Chief Switzer said the boy had been questioned the day after Diane Joan Brand and Rosemary Morton, both about 10 weeks old, were found dying in their cribs.

A child psychiatrist called into the case advised that Roger not be questioned further, Chief Switzer said, because of his fear.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brand and Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Norton, of Massillon, parents of the dead babies, also refused to accept Roger's statements as a solution of the mystery.

Their private investigators were to begin a deposition hearing in the case today.

"Credible" Statement
CLEVELAND, July 22.—David L. Cowles, superintendent of the Cleveland police ballistics and scientific bureau, described today as "credible" six-year-old Roger Gue's statement concerning the Massillon baby deaths.

Cowles said he previously suggested to Massillon authorities that the youth be questioned in connection with the mysterious deaths June 6 in Massillon hospital.

Roger, who told Massillon police chief Stanley W. Switzer yesterday how he played with the babies and dropped them on the floor, was hospitalized at the time with his arm in a cast.

Supporting his contention, Cowles pointed to knowledge that the boy had lifted down a 12½ pound radio from a high shelf while his arm was in a cast.

Republican quarters conceded that these marines, including elements believed to have been trained in the United States, were as much as 30 miles inland already and firmly in control of three or more key towns.

Unconfirmed reports reaching Batavia said, meantime, that Krawang and Poewokarta also were captured by Dutch forces.

No Direct Pressure
There seemed to be no direct pressure the United States could use on either side to get the fighting groups to settle down to peaceful negotiations.

However, the United States feels that a rich stake is at risk for all the world in the Indonesian disturbances.

Huge stockpiles of oil, rubber, sugar and other raw materials badly needed for the reconstruction of industry in Europe and the Orient are at stake if the Indonesians pursue their threatened "scorched earth" policy.

Southern Pacific Engineers' Strike Has Been Settled

Settlement Of Dispute Is Reached After Brief Tieup Caused By Engineers' Strike

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—(INS)—The vast Southern Pacific railroad system returns to scheduled operation at 9 a. m. CDT today, twelve hours after the beginning of a crippling strike by independent locomotive engineers.

Settlement of the dispute was achieved early this morning, after negotiators had met almost continuously for fifteen hours. But effects of the brief tieup will be felt along the line's 8,000 miles of track for some time to come.

A. T. Mercier, president of the Southern Pacific company, said he believed most engineers would be back at work at 9 a. m. and that regular schedules could be expected from then on. He added:

"However, it will be some days before we are able to resume generally normal handling of all traffic."

NEW YORK, July 22.—(INS)—Twin sisters in Brooklyn were disclosed to have put a new twist on the word coincidence.

Each gave birth to a baby last Saturday, one a boy, the other a girl.

The doctor who delivered them was the same man who brought twins into the world 33 years ago.

The sisters were Mrs. Katherine Devine Donahue and Mrs. Winifred Devine Murphy. Dr. Henry Aronson said he, the babies, the mothers and fathers all were doing well.

The bride-elect was also presented with a book in which each guest had written hints on managing a husband.

Bridge formed the afternoon's entertainment with prizes presented to Mrs. Warren Morgan and Mrs. Fred McKee.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. James Finney, of Grove City, and Mrs. William Conn, of Detroit, Mich.

Washington Calling

Soviet Delegate's Game Is To Stall

WASHINGTON, July 22.—When President Truman presented his program of aid for Greece and Turkey, he was criticized for failing to use the machinery of the United Nations. It was felt to be a blow at the standing of the U. N.

In the four months since that historic message, a great deal has happened to put this criticism in a different light. First, the U. N. commission sent to the Balkans to inquire into the causes of the Greek border dispute could not agree on a report.

Familiar Split

The split was along familiar lines. Russia and Poland dissented from the careful, thoroughly documented statement drawn up by the other members of the special commission that had gone over the ground. The dissenters would not accept open and shut facts as unearthed by the investigators.

Now for several weeks a wrangle has gone on the security council. It is over an elementary proposal—whether the United Nations shall station a watchman on the Greek border. A commission in the role of watchman would merely report back to Lake Success the facts as observed on the spot.

Soviet Delegate Stalls

The Soviet delegate has stalled and stalled on this proposal, with help from the Polish delegate. If the stalling tactics fail, then the Russians can fall back on the veto. This is occurring just at the time when the need for an impartial watchman is most obvious.

Behind the increasing tempo of the rebellion in northern Greece is a concerted effort launched from across the Greek border. The stupidity of the Greek government to one side, this can be the only explanation of the new outbreaks.

If this is not true, then an im-

The World and the Mud Puddles

HARD ON THE THROAT

An encouraging feature of the recent contest in the Senate over the labor bill veto was the complete fizzle of the filibuster undertaken by the champions of the CIO-PAC, Senator Taylor of Idaho and Senator Morse of Oregon. The bill-billy cowboy singer from Idaho, by reciting various chapters of his personal history, held the floor until his vocal cords were more or less impaired. The Oregon Senator, who registers as a Republican but is really a New Dealer in disguise, lasted about ten hours and ran out of ammunition. The vote shows that the Senators could have invoked cloture at almost any stage, but they chose to let the vote-blockers blow off steam and make themselves ridiculous.

Whose Ox Is Gored
Interesting, in connection with this oratorical martyrdom, is the fact that the radicals proclaimed as heroes the two marathon talkers, whereas similar filibuster attempts by conservatives like Bilbo have been denounced as attempts to thwart the will of the people. Whose ox is gored seems to be the gauge of righteousness or wickedness of the filibuster.

There is, of course, no sound reason why an individual or a little group of individuals should be able to hold up indefinitely the work of the United States Senate, or to prevent enactment into law any measure which is demanded by the overwhelming majority of citizens. The filibuster stems from "Senatorial courtesy," although in itself it is a rank abuse of courtesy. It is possible sometimes for the filibuster, like the executive veto, to serve a useful purpose in protecting the rights of a minority. Generally speaking, however, it is out of place in a democratic government.

In the veto contest, neither Senator Taylor nor Senator Morse added greatly to their laurels. But they probably made themselves political heroes to the bosses of organized labor.

GIRLS AND HAIRS

It seems just to bad that hairs will grow where they are not wanted.

A girl wants lots of hair on her head. She doesn't want any on her legs or her face.

Men nowadays do not want hair on the face. They have found that the best way is to shave it off.

It seems that some girls have not found this out yet.

They use all sorts of schemes to get rid of the hairs. They rub it off and burn it off and pull it out. They try all sorts of schemes.

They are afraid that shaving will make the hairs more numerous and coarser.

If it did there would be no bald heads.

There are lots of pretty girls who shave every day. Their skin looks fine.

Maybe We Need A Blowtorch

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SUMMER TUTORING ADVISED

With so much time on his hands, the average school child, unless he has excelled in arithmetic, could profit from some regular practice now on the fundamentals of arithmetic. This is something any parents might with proper help supervise pretty well at home, summer of winter.

Simple as it may seem—we generally are looking for hard and abstruse things—the most common weakness of the child from the third to the sixth grade in arithmetic is his failure to have learned accurately by heart all the multiplication facts and the basic addition and subtraction facts.

Weak On Arithmetic

Many more children are weak on the addition facts than on the multiplication facts. The reason is, I think, that at school the child always memorizes the multiplication facts, but rarely is set to learn by heart the basic addition and subtraction facts until after he has had a few years at counting them out—about the worst thing he can do. Now, any person regardless of his school grade or age, who counts as he tries to think, "Seven and nine make what?" or "Three from eleven leaves what?" will inevitably work slowly and inaccurately.

Have your child practice this summer on learning by heart accurately the basic 100 addition facts and the 100 basic subtraction facts. His accurate mastery of them will be useful to him all his life and will save him from much needless annoyance in all his number work.

Most children don't know there are so few of these facts to be memorized. I supposed there were almost a million of them till I was almost grown, until which time I counted out most of them, as also do some high school and college students right now.

I have prepared a sheet of these 100 basic addition facts and another sheet of 100 basic subtraction facts, to be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y., enclosing a stamped envelope.

On receiving these sheets, read the directions on each sheet carefully, beginning with the addition sheet, and have the child follow the directions literally. Your temptation will be to have him attack too large number of these facts at one sitting and for him to hurry and

Words Of Wisdom

Education begins with life. Before we are aware the foundations of character are laid, and subsequent teaching avails but little to remove or alter them.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

During the war a trip was planned by a certain family in town . . . just as soon as things settle down a little after the war we will take the children to New York, thus said the parents. From that time until this summer great plans were made. Almost every minute of the time they would be away were planned for sight-seeing. And as school drew to a close this past spring . . . talk at the dinner table always ended up with plans for the trip to New York . . . last Saturday afternoon the time came to leave.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton Richards . . . a New Castle News reporter and editorial writer loaded their two children plus luggage into the family car and away they went . . . over hills and dales toward the big city. We didn't hear that they had arrived . . . that is until last evening. About 9:45 the phone started to ring with nice people asking if our radio was turned on. No. It wasn't. We answered. . . well turn it on they said . . . and to the Bob Hawk show . . . for dear old Bart is on the air . . . and answering questions right and left.

So we too listened in . . . and sure enough there he was . . . he had made the grade . . . and was in the running for the Lemac of the week. Four others made the grade too . . . but when they announced what the Lemac question was, we felt sure that our New Castle boy would pull the prize . . . and sure enough he named the five number one railroad . . . and for doing so he was reported to have received one thousand dollars. No official report has arrived at this writing confirming Bart receiving the cash . . . so you notice we use the "reported".

We are terribly happy about the incident . . . for several years ago Bart was on a similar program and missed a very easy little question . . . and although he never talked about it we know that it was a weight on his well being.

Now that he has shot way past the sixty-four dollar question . . . hit the big old jack-pot, so to speak . . . should mean that once the vacation is over in little New York . . . we should have some mighty tall tales to hear over the lunch table that will carry us through the winter months.

Hints On Etiquette

A man gets out of the train, bus or street car first and assists his companion out. However, it is rude for him to push ahead in a waiting line to get off first.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

My wife and I were having lunch in the coffee shop of the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco.

The day before we had lunch at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood.

In Hollywood the tables were occupied by a most peculiar species of people.

The women wore all sorts of bizarre ornament in every color of the rainbow.

I wish I knew more about ladies' fashions so that I could give you a better description of their attire.

But there were midriff outfits and those awfully ugly shoes that are, I think, called wedgies. There were dark sunglasses—worn even in the subdued light of the restaurant—and very long, deep red fingernails. There were those great big costume rings made of all kinds of colored glass, painted toe nails, outlandish hair-dos (mostly synthetic red or blonde). There were bare legs and shorts and red purses slung over the shoulder—and there was a feverish babble of voices.

And the men!

Short-sleeved shirts with crocodiles and parrots and palm trees printed or painted on them. No neckties, of course, and no coats. There were slacks in all colors of the rainbow and socks that screamed to high heaven. There were sandals and high-yellow shoes in suede and cloth and what have you. The men, too, wore sunglasses, bracelets and jewelry.

The men, too, labored and gasped and seemed to run a temperature.

But in San Francisco it was different.

The people were dressed like the people in New York and Chicago and St. Louis and Hamilton and Waynesboro and Bridgeport and Charlotte dress.

They mumbled their own business and talked in subdued voices like well-mannered people in all cities and towns talk.

Nobody seemed to pay much attention to anybody else and everybody showed evidence of manners and breeding.

"What a difference," I said to my wife.

"Yes, indeed," she replied. "In Hollywood you see the people who are seeking something. In San Francisco you see the people who have found what they sought."

"That," I thought, expressed the difference very well.

Now, mind you, you don't see the people who make up the real Hollywood in hotel dining rooms any more than you find them in the restaurants of San Francisco. The great majority of people in any town don't hang out in hotels. But, unfortunately, visitors usually form their impression of a community by those they see in public places.

Hollywood is a home community as much as any other community. But in the minds of too many people it has become known as a combination of continuous county fair and giant movie set.

But I am telling you this not because of Hollywood or San Francisco, but because my wife's characterization of the two cities is also a standard by which all of us may be measured in our behavior and our manners.

Do we act like people who are seeking or who have found? Fourflushers and show-offs please take notice.

CRUMBING TABLE

Question: When should crumbs be brushed from the table during dinner?

Answer: After the salad course has been eaten and the plates removed, salt and pepper shakers and flat silver are taken away so that nothing remains but the centerpiece and glasses. Crumbs, if there are any, should be brushed from the table with a folded napkin.

Question: At what meals is a buffet service permissible? My wedding reception will take place at 7 p. m. and I wondered if I might correctly serve my refreshments in this way.

Answer: Indeed, yes, you may correctly serve a buffet supper at a 7 o'clock wedding reception. This type of service is proper at any hour of the day. It is especially convenient when there is a great number of guests at a home wedding.

Question: What is proper to serve at an afternoon tea? Is a salad permissible?

Answer: No. Salads are not properly served at tea. If the tea is small, tea, sandwiches, hot breads and cake will suffice. At larger tea, bouillon, chocolate and cake are some times served as well as sandwiches and tea. A greater amount of food would constitute a reception.

Question: Please tell me if it is correct to send birth announcements to those who have given me a present at a baby shower?

Answer: Yes. An announcement is merely news of the baby's arrival and does not necessitate a gift, although close friends and relatives usually present the new-born with a gift upon receipt of news of its arrival. Acquaintances need not do so, especially those who have already contributed at a shower.

Halting March Of Soviet

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Absurd as it seemed at the time, that last-ditch proposal by the beat-up German Reich in May, 1945—the formation of a German-Allied front against Russia—is almost sure to become an actuality under the Marshall Plan.

Foreign policy apologists, who always under-rate the savvy of the American public, can be expected to perform some verbal acrobatics when they start explaining this, but explanations aren't as necessary as some of the high-brows think.

In Europe during the last days of the war, GI bull sessions ran something as follows:

"We got a big Army on the Elbe River. We got the Ninth Air Force in France, the Eighth in England, the Fifteenth in Italy. I warn a go home but I don't wanna come back. We oughta chase the Russians back to Russia while we can."

Talk From Soldiers

This sort of talk was coming from Marinesque infantrymen and rangy tail-guns—not out of the mouths of global statesmen who were busy setting up the United Nations. The fighting men had heard something of the same sort from German prisoners who were always saying that the Reich was a fortress to protect Western Europe against Communism.

But the GIs were not interested in what Krauts had been coached to believe except as it confirmed what many American soldiers thought out for themselves. I thought then, and I'm reminded now, of the tribute Arthur Train in his "Yankee Lawyer" paid to the native sagacity of the average American. Juries, according to Mr. Train's M. Tut, often reached verdicts by cock-eyed logic and with little knowledge of the Law, but justice was served just the same.

Nothing Shameful About Policy

There is nothing shameful about our Russian policy, and it's time our statesmen paid a common respect to the horse sense of the public. Administration leaders still have the habit of discussing international facts-of-life in terms of the stork—as if straight talk were too indecent or too complicated for the ordinary citizen. A recent example is the official attitude of shock and surprise that Russia torpedoed the Big Three conference in Paris.

Soviet reaction to the Marshall Plan was, of course, predictable when the Secretary first proposed it at Harvard on June 5. There was no reason to believe and every reason to doubt that Stalin would lift the Iron Curtain and welcome Western participation in Eastern Europe. Past as well as recent history shows that Germany is geographically and ideologically as far eastward as the West goes, as far westward as the East extends in Europe. Germany, in a word, is a borderland. Today the demarkation line between Russian and Allied zones in Germany is the farthest frontier of capitalist democracy.

Wallace Wants Border Erased

Was the Marshall Plan originally intended to erase this border or intended to define and fortify it? Henry Wallace would like to see the border erased so that American aid and Russian ideas could have free passage back and forth. But only a simpleton would ascribe that desire to Marshall or Truman, both of whom would have needed some nimble double-talk had Stalin blandly accepted the offer of another load of lend-lease or its dollar equivalent.

Our attempt to establish a self-supporting Western Europe requires no apology. Hitler tried to do it under his New Order. Napoleon I tried to do it under his Continental System. But our methods are different. So are our motives. We propose to use money-bags instead of munitions and we have no itch to be boss. But we do stand to gain—in peace and prosperity—by succeeding where Hitler and Bonaparte failed.

An economic unification of Western Europe is a long step toward a politically-United States of Western Europe—a federation that would be no stronger than Germany, its weakest link.

Such a federation, including a rebuilt Germany, would be the staunchest possible bastion against the Soviet westward march.

It is a march which must be halted, if at all, at the German gateway. Because this gate opens both ways.

A savage outbreak of violence in Burma highlighted today the enormous new responsibilities that Great Britain has shouldered in her historic decision to grant independence to the sub-continent of India.

The incidents in Rangoon emphasized and brought back to mind the events of a far eastern war age that to some extent is almost forgotten.

And a host of names poured back into memory as well, headed of course, by that of Gen. "Vingard" Stilwell, who had to lead the Joe Stilwell, who had to lead the retreat of American and British troops from Burma after the Japanese onslaught and then immortalized this phrase:

Took Beating

"We took one hell of a beating." At the time of Stilwell's travails in Burma—as well as before the war, during it and after it—the allegiance of Burmese political leaders to the ideals of western democracy was placed into question.

Memories will recall a Burmese gentleman named U Saw. He went to London at the head of a Burmese mission dispatched from Rangoon to proclaim the solidarity of his nation with the stresses and strains of the British empire in the worst throes of a war with the Japanese aggressors.

But in spite of this, he was detained briefly as a Japanese collaborator and now is under house arrest again in connection with the Rangoon massacre.

In-and-Out Proposition

There never was any question that the allied campaign in Burma was an in-and-out proposition from the beginning.

Thousands of the natives had been indoctrinated most thoroughly by the Japanese and the nation as a whole looked not too kindly upon the compatibility that existed between the British residents of Rangoon and the Dutch traders who exercised such large influence throughout the Burma area.

It is questionable whether local Burmese independent thought regarding imperialistic doctrines registered itself more against British or Dutch.

But it is surely obvious that the population of Burma—a civilization far removed from those of India—has always been a difficult one to assimilate within the ordinary

SOLDIERS ALL

The men who wear the uniform
Of land or sea or sky
Our ways will show, wherever they go.

To every passer-by
That all Americans they are.
No child will have to guess,
But how can we discover be
Who wear civilian dress?

Our soldiers and our sailor men,
Our pilots of the skies
By what they wear and all they dare

The world will recognize.
But we who wear civilian dress
Are freedom's soldiers, too,
And we display at home, away,
What free men are and do.

Tis ours, what we believe, to prove
With courage and with grace,
And so to live that none can give
To hatreds rooting place.

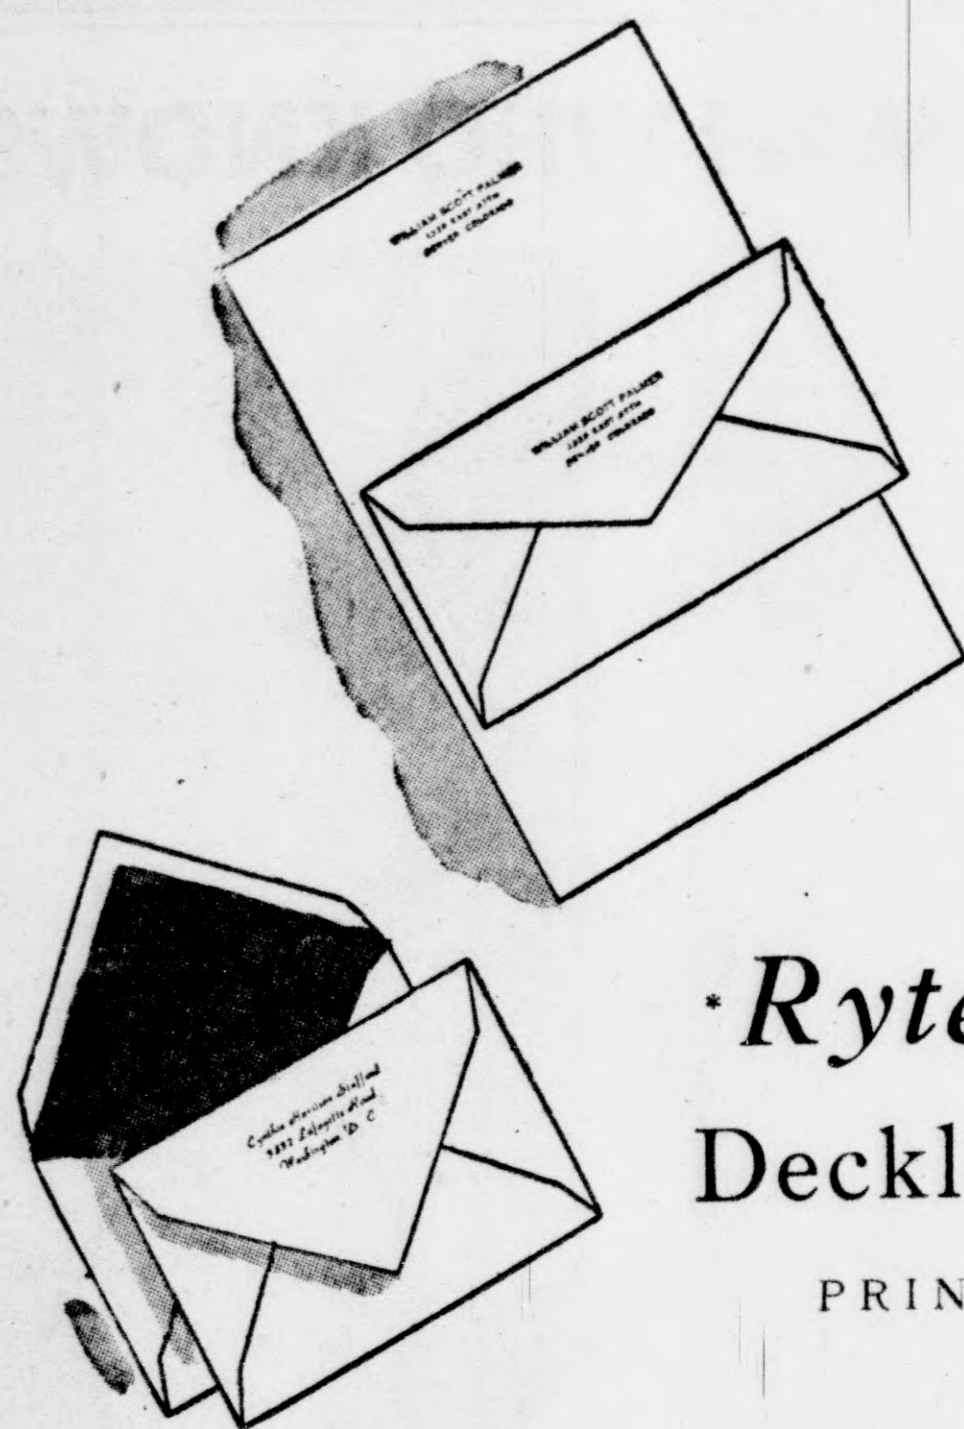

Tis ours to keep the land we love
In peace and happiness
And through and through be soldiers, too,
Though in civilian dress.

Approximately 160 Motor Carriers Are Suspended

HARRISBURG, July 22.—(INS)—Operating certificates of approximately 160 motor carriers were suspended today by the Public Utility Commission for failure to replace insurance held with the defunct Keystone Mutual Casualty Co. of Pittsburgh.

Guy R. Johnson, director of the Bureau of Transportation, indicated the PUC may also revoke certificates of public convenience or contract carrier permits issued the unidentified firms.

He declared that carriers holding policies with Keystone Mutual Casualty were given 15 days notice July 1 to replace their insurance. Approximately 440 companies complied and notified the PUC, he added. He said the 160 firms which failed to notify the commission of compliance included taxi, bus, traction and trucking companies.

partial watchman could report the real facts and the Russians would have support for their position that the trouble is internal. Alexandre Parodi, French member of the U. N. commission to Greece, made the suggestion that the border commission be composed of representatives of the smaller states with no stake in the Greek tragedy. That may be sound advice.

Russian Game
It has now become abundantly clear that the Russian game is to stall in the U. N. while the Russian satellites promote rebellion in Greece. While President Truman would have done well to ask the help of the U. N. in the Greek program, it is obvious that Soviet tactics would never have permitted any immediate, practical program.

A significant insight on this whole controversy is the personality of the man who represented the United States on the U. N. commission to Greece—Mark Ehrbridge of Louisville, Kentucky. Ehrbridge has all his life been a progressive. His enemies have sometimes called him a radical.

Two years ago, President Truman sent him on a mission to the Balkans. Like many other progressives he wanted to believe the best about Soviet Russia, and if he went with any bias, it was in that direction.

Able Newspaper Man
But he is also a very able newspaper man who has learned to appraise and correlate the facts that come to his attention. In the course of several prolonged trips to eastern Europe, he saw repeated evidence of Communist repression and Communist brutality.

As a member of the U. N. delegation to Greece, he fought persistently and resourcefully to bring out the facts. It was no easy task, in many ways it was a thankless task. While it won the enmity of the Slavic bloc, few Americans have understood the importance of the effort Ehrbridge made as American delegate.

Here is a fair-minded man, of liberal-progressive thought, who became convinced of the reality of the Soviet plot. Unlike a certain type of liberal, who would prefer not to be troubled by facts, Ehrbridge had both the ability and the courage to examine the truth in all its tragic meaning.

He saw while persistent Communist propaganda made out the Greek government to be wholly repressive, the facts did not tally with that propaganda. Ehrbridge learned that more Democratic freedoms exist in Greece than in the satellite states, where repression is savage and unrelenting.

Ehrbridge might well have played an important role in our own understanding in Greece. The petty spite of certain senators made this impossible.

The United Nations was not an instrument for the relief of Greece. Recent events have demonstrated that unmistakably.

make many mistakes. The secret of his success is his carefulness and accuracy and constant repetition of those facts already learned so as to fix them without any danger of mistakes.

As your child practices on the multiplication facts it may be well to mix up the facts of each table instead of having him learn them in order. Each fact needs to be learned as a separate fact. I can recall the time when wishing to know how many are seven times eight I had to go through the "seven table" till I came to seven times eight. This was wasteful learning. On the other hand, saying the table in order may be more interesting than practicing on the facts out of order. Perhaps a good plan is to do both, mixing them up after each table has been learned in order.

Bataan in the Philippines had its "death march", and Gen. Sillwell's heroic but much-regretted retreat from Burma is an imperishable part of history as well.

What transpires in Rangoon and in deliberations of the British India office over the next day or two will be of great importance to the world.

There is little likelihood at the present that the final outcome will solidify at all the strenuous grip that Britain holds upon her far-flung outposts in the far eastern hemisphere.

First Duffle Bag Sent To Service Center From County

The first Duffle Bag that has been reported to the County Sunday School Association as having been sent in to the Service Center in Maryland for cleaning and repairing before being sent overseas, was forwarded by Mrs. Roy McBride for the Mahoning U. P. Sunday School of Pulaski District. The Duffle Bag weighed 30 pounds and contained good clothing and shoes. Mrs. McBride has sent in a request for 3 more Duffle Bags and has already accumulated enough clothing and shoes to fill them. There have been other Duffle Bags sent in from Pulaski District.

At the Annual Convention of Pulaski District, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., the County President, presented the Duffle Bag campaign to them as it was well received. From all indications, Pulaski District, as well as the other Districts of Lawrence County, will do their part in helping to alleviate the suffering overseas due to lack of clothing and shoes.

Thousands Attend Camp At Mahaffey

MAHAFFEY, Pa., July 22.—Dr. H. M. Shuman, of New York City, president of the International Christian and Missionary Alliance, addressed an audience of 2,500 persons Sunday morning here at the annual encampment of the church at beautiful Susquehanna Park Camp Grounds.

Ideal weather and an interesting program, drew throngs from far and near to the camp grounds situated along the headwaters of the Susquehanna river. Highlights of the first Sunday of the convention, in addition to the presidents address, were missionary addresses by Miss Rosalie Robel, of Ecuador and Miss Esther Palmquist of the Belgian Congo.

In the afternoon, Rev. P. R. Hyde brought a forceful address, with Rev. W. G. Weston of Elizabeth, Pa., bringing the closing sermon. The camp will run until Sunday,

July 27, when the largest throng in the history of the camp is expected on the grounds.

Trial Of Navy Chief Continues; Charges Unread

Signalman Accused Of Mistreating
Fellow Prisoners In Jap
Prison Camps

NEW YORK, July 22.—(INS)—The trial of navy chief signalman Harold E. Hirschberg, 29, charged with mistreating fellow prisoners in Japanese prison camps, continues today with the charges against the navy veteran still unread.

Legal bickering by defense counsel L. Conrad John J. O'Neil marked the first day of the trial yesterday, held at the Brooklyn naval shipyard.

O'Neil opened the defense by objecting to the still undisclosed specific charges. He challenged the qualifications of four of the six members of the court martial board on the ground they might have had previous knowledge of the charges.

He lost both counts including the contention that the court martial had no jurisdiction in Hirschberg's case.

O'Neil declared, however, that he would not accept the court's assumption of jurisdiction as conclusive.

He maintained that Hirschberg was honorably discharged from the navy March 26, 1946, and therefore could not be held for alleged offenses committed before that date despite his reenlistment the following day.

Hirschberg, a survivor of the Bataan death march, is accused of brutality towards American prisoners captured with him by the Japanese on Corregidor in the Philippines.

Charges Soviet Is Seeking To Create Disunity In U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(INS)—Rep. Dondero (R) Mich., charged today that "Stooges" in congress and in "high government positions" are aiding a Russian campaign to create disunity in the United States.

The congressman mentioned names, but he declared that Marshal Stalin is using "spies, secret agents, agitators, saboteurs and traitors" in his effort to discredit and undermine this country.

Dondero asserted in a speech prepared for delivery in the house that the Soviet government is engaged in a fifth column campaign in the United States comparable to that which Hitler undertook in France before its capitulation to the Nazis.

THREE VICTIMS OF BABY MALADY IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—(INS)—The death toll of an outbreak of infant diarrhea at the Philadelphia General hospital was set at three today, with 19 other babies still under treatment for the infection.

An autopsy revealed that three-week-old Rebecca Bryant died from the ailment—gastroenteritis—last Saturday. Two other babies have been cured of the illness since broke out at the hospital June 23.

Sees Marshall Plan Key To Prosperity For Most Of Europe

PARIS, July 22.—(INS)—The Turkish ambassador to France predicted on his departure for Ankara today that the Marshall plan, if successful, will lead to European prosperity with or without participation of Russia and her satellites.

Numan Menemencoglu, who has been chief Turkish delegate to the Paris conference, said, however, that Turkey would welcome a Russian decision to join in a general reconstruction plan for Europe.

The envoy said that Turkey's greatest need is for agricultural machinery from the United States which could be used to reap greater crops for export. He added that industrial machinery is another requirement if Turkey's infant coal and iron industries are to be developed.

Trace Lost Laundry Case To New Castle

Somewhere in New Castle, someone is probably wondering what has become of a laundry suitcase mailed from the local post office on June 11, destination unknown.

It showed up in the Knoxville, Tenn., postoffice with all labels gone, and the only means of identification was the metered post office label, from this city, showing 32 cents postage was collected here.

The case is of black metal, with a woven cloth strap around it. It contains three dresses, two packages of cigs, and a woven handbag. The owner can make arrangements to claim it through Postmaster William R. Hanna at the local post office.

Kansas City Election Probe Is Virtually Shelved In Senate

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(INS)—The senate virtually shelved the Kansas City election probe today, but a judiciary subcommittee prepared to investigate the alleged use of lotteries to get voters to the polls in other Missouri elections.

Blocked by a Democratic filibuster since Thursday, the GOP leadership decided to lay aside, at least temporarily, the effort of Sen. Ken (R) Mo. to pry from a judiciary committee pigeonhole his resolution for an investigation of the Justice department's handling of the Kansas City complaints.

Kem protested the Republican policy committee's action. He said he will ask the GOP leadership to keep the senate in continuous session for a night or two to break the filibuster.

Bids Received
For New Sewer

Only Three Dollars Difference In Bids Of Two Seeking Contract

OTHER NEWS
OF CITY HALL

Only three dollars difference existed Monday when council opened bids for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Vogan street. The bids were referred to the city engineer for checking and a report to council. New Castle Duntle company offered to do the work for $1,870, and Henning & Hutton Engineering company, $1,873.

Director of streets James Gibson in council meeting authorized the city's legal bureau to prepare an ordinance for the repair of the Quest street stone wall. The city engineer also was authorized to prepare plans and specifications for the same.

A petition was read from residents of Erie avenue, between Crawford avenue and Mulberry street, asking that section be paved with a hard material. The petition was referred to the city engineer for checking and a report to council.

Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. was granted permission, under a motion submitted by Safety Director D. O. Davies, to construct four inch lines, one of which will be for 325 feet in Hazen street and the other for 328 feet in Junior High street.

Because a petition had been improperly signed, it was ordered returned to Friendship street residents between South Mill and South Mercer streets. It asked for paving of that section. It also was pointed out that only nine of 12 property-owners signed in favor of the project and only 72.75 per cent in interest involved signed. The job was to have been paid for by the property owners.

Forms Group In Cleveland To Aid Research On Multiple Sclerosis; Recovered From Attack

CLEVELAND, July 22.—Doctors are still baffled by the crippling nerve disease called multiple sclerosis, an illness that strikes young adults in greater numbers than infantile paralysis.

But even more baffling is the case of a Lakewood woman, Miss Betty Bard, 12936 Clifton Blvd., who recovered from the disease after doctors had helplessly watched her become blind, deaf, and paralyzed by the mysterious ailment.

Miss Bard, a former New Castle girl, daughter of Richard Bard who died in Canada in 1932, has formed a group in Cleveland which hopes to become a chapter of the Association for Advancement of Research on Multiple Sclerosis, Inc. She uses her lunch hour and every available moment after work to further the organization.

This curious disease strikes at the central nervous system of men and women between 20 and 40. It leaves many completely incapacitated for life. Its effects are patchy. It hits now one part of the body, now another. It commonly causes tremors of parts of the body, weakness, disturbances of the eye, speech troubles, numbness of different parts, and emotional disturbances.

Miss Bard at one time was unable to use her hands or arms, and lost her sight and hearing. She planned a course of self-devised treatment, and after following the strenuous exercises for some years, is one of the cases to be entirely free of the disease.

COWS AND HEIFERS NEED
SALT ON PASTURES

Cows and heifers on pasture require salt the same as on winter feeding. Most dairy grain mixtures fed during winter months contain one per cent salt which may be nearly sufficient for the cows' needs.

During the summer when grain is not fed so heavy to milk cows, and when heifers often receive no grain, salt needs to be supplied to them regularly.

This can be done by providing loose salt in a box in the pasture, with a cover or roof to keep out the rain. Salt blocks will do for heifers and dry cows on pasture, but cows in milk need more salt, as a rule, than can be obtained by licking the blocks. If some salt is fed in the barn, however, then salt blocks can be used on pasture for milk cows to supplement barn feeding of salt.

MANY HAZARDS ON FARMS

Almost as though it is a symbol, is the black cat just beyond reach of the little girl in the above picture. In her eagerness to reach that cat, maybe she isn't even aware of the broken rail around the hay chute. Falls are responsible for many injuries and deaths on farms and in homes. A few minutes spent in placing guards around hay chutes, stairways, and other openings often will prevent months of suffering. A broken railing, as shown above, is a hazard rather than a protection. This is the second in a series of specially posed pictures taken by New Castle News photographer in connection with National Farm Safety Week, July 20-27, as declared by President Truman.

FLYING PEEPERS IRK NUDISTS IN NEW JERSEY CAMP

STOCKHOLM, N. J., July 22.—(INS)—Officials of the 220-acre nudist camp at Rock Lodge let out with a loud complaint to State Police today.

They charged that low-flying airplanes apparently are carrying aerial "peeping toms," and that over the weekend two monoplanes sent 400 sunbathers scurrying for cover. Police said they would investigate.

Argentina's "first lady" was to be the luncheon guest of President Vincent Auriol this noon at the historic Presidential summer residence in suburban Rambouillet.

"They're always far ahead in beach styles, you know."

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, July 22.—(INS)—Blonde Gloria Grahame rose to film fame by riding side-saddle on bar stools. Now, in RKO's "Roughshod," she's bumping away on a real flesh-and-bones horse and she's not sure she likes it. She said:

"A change is supposed to be good for you, and I hope that's right. Otherwise, I'm taking an awful beating for nothing."

Her current assignment is making a C-girl out of a B-girl. The "C" is for cowgirl and according to Miss Grahame, "coloured." As Gloria tells it, outdoor pictures come as a distinct shock, and hard work, after a series of pictures in which she sat in dimly-lit bistros.

In "Roughshod," in which she appears opposite Robert Sterling and Claude Jarman, Jr., she plays a saloon shen in California of the 1890's, equally adept with cards, men and horses. It's her first leading role under her new contract at RKO, where she had previously worked on loan-outs from MGM in "It's A Wonderful Life" and "Crossfire." But there are so many new things in connection with this picture that she feels as if she were in a strange world.

"For instance," she said, "the item of cigarettes. When I portrayed women of shady character, my movie men always rushed to give me a cigarette and light it for me. They were so attentive."

Now, it seems, she not only has to provide her own cigarettes—she must roll them!

In her previous pictures she's always worn slinky evening gowns, which displayed her not inconsiderable charms at their best. Now she's burdened with several petticoats, flowing skirts and a bustle. The outdoorsy garments are comfortable but hardly chic.

Her list also includes unfavorable comparisons between well-padded stationer chairs and hard saddies; stop galloping horses; expensive limousines as contrasted with unsteady buckboards; frill, feminine sandals versus the cowgirl boots!

She grimaced and added:

"Sometimes when I come in from a day's work riding the range, dirty, stiff and tired, I wonder what I ever saw in acting that attracted me."

The first time radio was used in a sea rescue was on Jan. 23, 1909, when Jack Binns, wireless operator, sent an "CDQ" (before SOS) when the steamship Florida and the White Star liner Republic collided off Nantucket lightship in fog.

Unionists Mass In Protest Of Burmese Killings

RANGOON, July 22.—(INS)—A mass meeting of 20 thousand trade unionists in Rangoon today accused leaders of parties opposed to the "Freedom League" of "political gansterism and cold-blooded murder" in Saturday's assassination of ten Burmese government leaders.

Thankin' Tan Tun, Communist leader, declared:

"This horrible crime definitely was engineered by British imperialists and their hirelings."

The Leftist called upon Burmese peasants and workers to "crush the British imperialists and achieve the goal of complete independence."

His words were greeted by shouts of "hand the culprits to us—we will deal with them."

Rangoon was declared out-of-bounds to British and other Allied troops, though the capital and provincial districts were reported quiet.

Rangoon police checked the stories of more than 300 suspects today in their dogged search for the assassins of eight Burmese cabinet ministers.

The tense city was reassured by the police chief's promise that the investigation will continue until he has seized all persons connected with Saturday's machine-gun attack that virtually wiped out the nation's interim cabinet. Two other officials died in the shooting.

Widespread concern continued throughout the country despite a complete absence of additional violence.

Sedan Sets Off It Own Alarm; Thieves Nabbed

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—(INS)—A Ford sedan set off its own burglar alarm today when two young men allegedly tried to steal it.

Police said the steering gear locked on the automobile so sharply that the wheels struck the curb in central Philadelphia blowing a tire. The sound of the blowout brought police to the scene.

They arrested Gerard McNamara, of Scranton and Charles Tipping, of Philadelphia, on charges of attempted larceny of an automobile. Police said both boys have good records, and apparently were doing a little "celebrating."

Banks To Merge In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 22.—Sale of the City Trust & Savings Bank to the Dollar Savings & Trust Company, effective probably in September, was announced today in a joint statement by Carl W. Ullman, president of the Dollar, and H. Russell Hooper, president of the City. The purchase price was $1,342,841.28.

Hooper and Ullman announced that all employees of the City Bank will be retained in similar capacities and at equal salaries. In addition, they will receive terminal pay from City Bank proportionate with their years of service.

The Dollar Bank will assume the lease on valuable property occupied by the City, the lease having 23 years to run. It will be a month before physical properties of the City can be moved to the Dollar. The sale has been confirmed by directors of both institutions.

Glenolden-Pittston, Ford City-Duquesne Ready For Battles

Commissioner Tex Riffel Revises Schedule, First Game Tonight At 7 O'Clock

Wilkes-Barre, Smock, New Kensington-Groveton On Card For Wednesday

Rained forced the postponement of the scheduled National Baseball Congress state tournament games last night at Flaherty Field, with Commissioner Tex Riffel revising the original schedule and hoping to get two more games played this evening, starting at 7 o'clock.

In the opening battle tonight it will be the famous Glenolden team from Philadelphia opposing the crackerjack Pittston A.C. team with Al Eckert on the mound. In the second game tonight it will be between Ford City and Duquesne Zemps, both strong contenders for state honors.

Watch Glenolden

Glenolden is a suburb of Philadelphia and is members of the Delaware County League and are champions in their section with 21 wins and two losses to date. They have a number of recognized college stars on the roster and will be one of the tourney "darkhorses."

Pittston is a coal mining county team from the northeastern section of the state has a very fine club and on the roster is several stars who are headed for the big leagues. New Castle baseball fans will see some good baseball tonight that's sure. These eastern clubs are highly recognized.

"Grudge Battle"

The second game tonight is a "grudge battle" with the Ford City Glassworkers ready to make the Duquesne Zemps backwater. The Ford City team has a 1947 record of 19 wins and no defeats and are the leaders in the Allegheny-Kiski Valley league. Frank Shaffer who has had tourney experience in other years will be on the mound for the Glassers and hopes to record his eighth no-hitter here tonight. In the last time Shaffer appeared in the NBC tourney he was named to All-American pitching staff.

The Duquesne Zemps, with two strong pitchers in Johnny Chir and Alex Medich will be topheavy favorites to upset the Glassers this evening. The Zemps rated one of the most powerful clubs in the Pittsburgh district will bring a record here of 36 wins and four defeats. They are a very colorful club.

With indicated good weather tonight a jammed Flaherty Field will greet these four great clubs from the eastern area and two from the western end of the state.

Lach Among Low Public Linkers

Local Entry In National Public Links Tourney Four Strokes Behind Leaders

OPENING ROUND IS SHOT MONDAY

Ted Lach, 22-year-old husky ex-marine, who is carrying the colors of the Sylvan Heights course in the National Public Links tournament in his third try in the national event, shot a 74 on Monday, the opening day of the national tournament at the Meadowbrook course in Minneapolis. The narrow fairways and tricky greens kept all but five players at par figures or below on Monday.

Avery Beck, aged 33, of Raleigh, N. C., and Donald J. Dostert, of St. Paul, each had 70's, two under par. Lach led the qualifiers from the Pittsburgh district, Eli Thomas, and Anthony F. Yuska, both of Pittsburgh, the other qualifiers, having 76's.

The second 18 holes of the qualifying round will be played off today, and two rounds of 18 holes will be played on Wednesday, with another double round slated for Thursday. The 36-hole final match is slated for Saturday.

Only 180 out of 2,634 who participated in qualifying rounds in 42 locations throughout the country were successful in getting into the national tourney, which means that Lach, local man is one of the country's best.

Dukes Defeat Sons of Italy

The Duca D'Abruzzi softball team defeated the Sons of Italy in a second half loop game last night at Dean park, 4 to 1. It was reported by Manager Jimmy Valentino. DeGuzio connected his 11th homer of the season and DeJoseph also smacked a homer, for the Dukes.

Roger Maggie pitched a masterful game allowing the heavy clouting Sons of Italy team just two hits and fanning 11 batters.

Whirlaway's one-time leading money-winning record of $561,161 is fast fading into the background with no less than three horses past that figure and drawing further away all the time.

Robert Sessions On All-Star Team

On Saturday, 41 young American Legion Junior players from North-Western Pennsylvania, were guests of the Butler Yankees, and two teams were picked to play against each other, from which six from the district were finally chosen as representatives in the western All-Star game to be played at Forbes Field, August 7.

Three big-league scouts were the judges, and Robert Sessions was chosen from among the six named to go to Pittsburgh. Don Watters was the other boy to represent New Castle, but had a bad day at bat. Sessions is an outfielder and lives at 305 Mahoning avenue.

Among the other five chosen was an Ellwood City boy, Eugene Belo, also an outfielder. The boys who contested at Butler came from points between Allegheny and Cochran. The boys were guests of the Butler Yankees at dinner at noon, and at 5:30, played the all-star game.

Crews Battles Komlo Tonight

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—(INS)—Sammy Secret, long-armed Cecil, Pa., middleweight slugger, in a five-victory comeback after dropping three decisions during the winter, tonight will attempt to prove his recent victory over Charley (Young) Zivic was no fluke when the two meet in a return 10-round bout in Pittsburgh's "Punch Bowl".

Secret punched out a decision over Zivic four weeks ago in the same ring.

Five-bout card also will see Andy (Kid) DePaul, Golden Gloves light-weight champion, who returned last week from an international amateur victory over Charley (Young) Zivic, his professional debut against Bill Williams of Braddock, Pa. John Komlo, Golden Gloves light-heavy-weight champion who won his first pro bout by a first round knockout two weeks ago is matched with Roy Crews of Ellwood City.

Baxter Opposes Sayers And Moran Battles Bryant Wednesday Night

DUDDY AND CREWS ON FIGHT CARD

Twenty-four more hours remain until Russell Baxter slings gloves with Al Sayers and Frankie Moran, southpaw, slugs with Johnny Bryant. According to reports from their various training quarters, the four are in condition for their eight round pro battles in The Arena, at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday. The Arena was air-cooled this week.

Baxter, who has fought approximately 75 pro battles, with victories in all, excepting probably half a dozen, is reported in the height of condition and expects to wage an aggressive battle against the Chestnut, W. Va., middleweight, who has fought Sammy Secret and others well known in the middleweight world.

Russell has trained faithfully at the Jefferson Athletic club, with Elkins Brothers, the amateur heavy-weight, has a training partner. In boxing with Brothers he had been able to let go with his hardest punches and had to keep his hands up to prevent Brothers from crashing across his dynamic right, a blow Baxter heretofore had trouble escaping.

Moran Ready

If Baxter should defeat Sayers, there is talk of his being put in another fight, which if he again proves successful, would result in his being matched to fight Southpaw Jack Biddle, who has been going good in New England states. Should Sayers decide to knock out Baxter, it will mean his relegation to the scrap pile.

Frankie Moran, New Castle's hard-socking welterweight, is in against a tough hombre in Johnny Bryant of Massillon. He has trained with Bill Pozza and Roy Crews in an Ellwood City gymnasium and according to himself: "I'm in the pink of condition, ready for whatever Bryant has and I expect to win tomorrow night."

Mark Duddy, new Castle light-heavyweight, will box Billy Samson of Homewood in a six round bout. He has been training the past week with Babe Adams of Pittsburgh, at 142, and Roy Crews, Ellwood City, takes on Ralph Scarfucci, Massillon, a training partner of Bryant.

The bouts which will be staged by the Jefferson A.C. will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m. in the Arena, which is now air-cooled.

Phils May Sign Big "Goose" Tatum

Of interest to local baseball fans who saw the recent Johnson Bronze Jay-Bee and Indianapolis Clowns game at Flaherty Field, is the announcement that big "Goose" Tatum, the elongated first baseman, is reported headed for the Philadelphia Phillies of the National league.

Tatum, whose long arms speared everything that came his way with ease and grace, made a decided hit here not only with his baseball ability but his clowning as well. He wore a big grass skirt here for part of the game and put on a real show.

Suspend Augustine Indefinite Period

Rulings Made For Two Suspended Players In City League, Umpire Suspended

Manager Joseph Augustine of the South Hill baseball club has been suspended indefinitely for conduct unbecoming a manager in the city baseball league at South Hill field Sunday, July 20.

Suspension of Augustine follows a report made to the head of the league by Umpire Ralph Kueram as to the rough treatment he received at the end of the South Hill-Spartan game.

Indefinite suspensions handed to Mike Budai and Jack Dou by President Charles "Bugs" Walther will be lifted in time for the playoff game in the league at the end of the season.

Leo W. Hill, president of the Lawrence County Umpires association, has slapped a suspension on Umpire Nick Rotunno for his actions in the recent mixup at Flaherty field, he announced today.

South Hill To Battle Indies

Game At Cedar Street Features In City League, Universals Meet Slovaks

Cedar street field will draw the city baseball league attention this evening for the South Hill-Lawrence Indies battle at 6 o'clock. There are six other loop games on the card, with the league leading Universal Pottery seeking its 20th straight win in the circuit, by meeting the Slovaks at Washington field.

Other games on the card for tonight are: Dewey A. C. vs. West Side Tigers at Lee avenue; Spartans vs. Sons of Italy at Deshon Annex field; Union Civics at Ryantown and St. Margaret's at West Pittsburgh.

Following the upsets last Sunday the fans are looking for another big evening as the league swings into another full schedule of games.

Rain Hampers County Games

Rain and soggy playing fields hampered three County League contests last night—one regular game and two play-offs tilts.

If weather permits tonight will see three more battles offered—St. Lucy at Edenburg, Ellwood Moose at Hillsville and New Galilee at Wayne A.C. All these games are play-offs of previously cancelled contests.

Four Of Yankee Stars Sidelined Through Ailments

Yanks Lead Not Safe Yet, Dodgers Win Two From Reds, Phils Lambast Bucs

By LES CONKLIN (International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, July 22.—The old cry of "break up the Yankees" need not be revived by American League rivals at the moment, despite New York's imposing lead 9½ games, because the Yanks seem to be breaking up themselves, physically speaking.

Four of the brightest stars in the New York galaxy are hampered by injuries as the team opens a home stand against the West tonight.

The casualties are joining Joe DiMaggio, stellar outfielder; Billy Johnson, spark plug of the infield; and the two ace pitchers, Spud Chandler and Spec Shea.

DiMaggio Hobbling

DiMaggio sustained a pulled leg muscle in the second game of the double-header at Detroit Sunday. He is bandaged from knee to thigh and is hobbling.

Johnson's case is diagnosed as a muscular ache at the base of the spine. He will be replaced at third base by Goldy Brown.

If the ailing arms of Chandler and Shea do not respond to treatment, the Yanks may find their luscious lead whittled down faster than a chalk player's bankroll at Belmont Park.

Furthermore, this list of conspicuous cripples does not include Charley Keller, who probably is lost for the season because of spinal trouble.

Reiser Out Again

The Brooklyn Dodgers, who now boast a lead of four games in the National League as they head West, were lucky to escape a serious casualty yesterday when Pistol Pete Reiser dislocated his left shoulder while diving for a liner during yesterday's twin bill with Cincinnati.

The shoulder snapped back into place and Reiser, who is as brittle as he is brilliant, will be out for only two or three days, fortunately for the Brocks.

Dodgers Win Two

Bruce Edwards, stocky catcher, did a deal of timely hitting as the Dodgers beat the Reds twice, 7 to 4 and 4 to 3. He got three hits in the first game and drove in the winning run in the ninth inning of the nightcap with another wallop.

Southpaw Joe Hatten, who has been having his ups and downs lately, went the route for the winners in the second game.

In the only other game played in the majors, Emil (Dutch) Leonard continued his mastery over the Pittsburgh Pirates, holding the Bucs to five hits and marking up his 14th win of the season, 8-1. The Phils jumped Roger Wolf, another veteran knuckleballer, for five hits and a walk in the first inning to sew up the game.

Joe Bedenk, veteran baseball coach and football aide, is the newest addition to Penn State's "50-And-Over Club". Bedenk, former all-American football player, who observed his 50th birthday July 14, joined the select circle which already includes Bob Higgins, Bob Rutherford, Sr., Leo Houck and Bill Jeffery.

Three Are Killed Over Week End Near Lisbon, O.

LISBON, July 22.—The week end traffic toll of Columbiana county was increased to three on Monday, with the death of Henry Hepner, 24, of Lisbon, R. D. 1, and Mrs. Grace Frost, 30, mother of five children of Hanover, in a Canton hospital. Hepner and Mrs. Frost were killed when Hepner's car side-swiped a car, driven by Mrs. Ruth G. Ferris, 26, of Minerva, R. D. 3, then struck a utility pole on U. S. Highway 20, at East Rochester, state highway police said.

Four other passengers in Hepner's car were injured. They were Charles Lindesmith, Larry Belch and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miller, all of Hanover district.

Governor Dewey Visits Wyoming

ENROUTE WITH GOV. DEWEY TO JENNY LAKE, Wyo., July 22.—(INS)—New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey sidetracked politics entirely today to travel with his family through the rugged beauty of Jackson Hole country on Wyoming.

He left Cody, Wyo., this morning by automobile and was to spend tonight at the Jenny Lake ranch, near the base of the gigantic Teton mountain range.

During his nearly 24-hour stay in Cody, Dewey learned from Wyoming Republican leaders that his political strength in the state is great. But he was told by U. S. Sen. Edward V. Robertson that sentiment is growing in Wyoming for Sen. Robert A. Taft, of Ohio.

Part Of Ohio To Have Deer Hunting

COLUMBUS, O., July 22.—Ohio big game hunters will be happy to know there will be a deer season set for this year. Deer in eight Ohio counties are becoming so numerous that they have been declared pests. To cope with the situation, the state conservation department declared there will be a special deer hunting season.

Hunting will be permitted in Lake Geauga, Ashtabula, Trumbull, Portage, Columbiana, Jefferson and Carroll counties for archers December 15 and 16, and for gunners December 17 through 19.

This will be the first hunting season in Ohio since 1945 when hunting was permitted in three counties.

A special $5 permit, authorized by the last legislature, must be obtained by all deer hunters in addition to regular hunting licenses.

Seek Ax-Killers In Alaska Wilds

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 22.—(INS)—Two men believed to be the axe-wielding killers in a double murder near Little Gerstle river on the Alaskan highway, were being sought today by U. S. authorities.

A territorial radio alarm was broadcast by U. S. Marshal Stanley Nichols after an Indian, Frank Felix, said he witnessed the slaying of trapper Carl Olmstead, 63, and an unidentified man in the wilderness of the highway, 150 miles southeast of Fairbanks.

Nichols said the Indian, who is being held as a material witness, told Deputy Marshal Steve Mikulas the two killers separated, one driving away in a black panel truck and the other taking to the woods on foot.

Deny New Trial In 1942 Bus Tragedy

BEAVER FALLS, July 22.—Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. and its subsidiary, the Woodlawn Land Company, lost an appeal for a new trial Monday in a test case of the Allegheny rock slide tragedy of December 22, 1942, when 22 persons lost their lives.

The appeal was denied by the Allegheny county common pleas court, but the verdict of $35,000 was reduced to $25,000, with John A. McCarthy, 27, of Monaca, a survivor of the accident to receive the amount. During the tragedy, more than one thousand tons of rock crushed an Ohio River Motor Coach company bus.

Convicted Woman To Seek New Trial

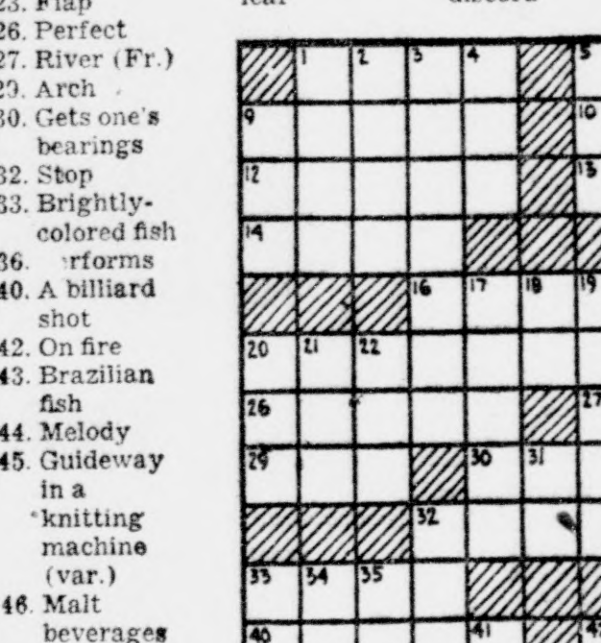

SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 22.—(INS)—A motion to re-try the case of Mrs. Alfred W. Ingalls, convicted of enslaving her Negro maid for more than 40 years, was expected to be filed today.

Attorney Clifford K. Fitzgerald said he would appeal the conviction if the motion was denied.

On the verge of collapse since Saturday, Mrs. Ingalls was described by her husband as "holding up bravely" in jail.

Continue Qualifying In Publinks Tourney

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 22.—(INS)—Qualifying rounds in the national public links tournament at the Minneapolis Meadowbrook club continued today with the general opinion that a 138 score would win medalist honors.

The big double surprise in opening trial rounds yesterday was the appearance and fine showing of Wilfred Crossley of Atlanta, Ga., a Harvard university graduate.

Crossley long has been a private links golfer. Back in 1936 he went to the fourth round in the national amateur tourney at Garden City N. Y. He is also past New England amateur titlist and his appearance among the public links players surprised even Joe Day, U. S. Golf Association executive secretary.

But Crossley indicated he was taking the tourney seriously by firing a 36-34-70 to share the first day lead with Avery Beck of Raleigh, N. C., and Donald J. Dastert, St. Paul, Minn.

For the first time since pre-war days, the Youngstown College football squad will spend two weeks of their training period at Camp Pitch, near N. Springfield, Pa., according to Coach "Dike" Beede.

The cost of everything has gone up but our prewar flat rate labor charges are unchanged. We are always replacing old methods and equipment with modern to do a good job better and to hold the line as always on service charges. So we continue to say way take less when the best costs no more?

Court House Registration Last Day Heavy

Total Registration Of Voters
For Primaries Under Last Year's Figures

FOUR HUNDRED
ADDED LAST DAY

Registration of voters on Saturday, the last day for registration before the fall primaries saw 410 voters registered. Of this number 210 were Republicans and 7 were Democrats. There were two who registered non partisan and one prohibitionist.

This was the banner day for the whole week, which saw 1285 voters registered. Of this number there were 986 who registered Republican, 305 registered Democratic, 10 registered on the Prohibition party, and four registered no party.

There are now 39,347 voters in Lawrence county, who are eligible to vote at the fall primary, September 9. This is 2,489 less than the number who were eligible to vote at the election in November, 1945. On January 1, 1947, 8,700 voters were dropped from the rolls because they had failed to vote for the preceding two years.

An energetic campaign had been waged to get voters registered, but there seem to be a great number of apathetic citizens who do not care who holds office, as the drive fell short of last year's registration figures.

A recapitulation of the registration figures shows that there are now registered to vote at the fall primary, 28,310 Republicans, 10,080 Democrats, 158 Prohibitionists, 166 no party, 27 Independent, 6 Socialist, and one progressive.

Registration spurts in a presidential year, and then falls off. People are anxious to vote for a president, who sits way down in Washington, but they forget the local officers who govern them directly. They vote during a presidential year, and do not bother to go to the polls at any other time, it would seem.

COEN RETURNS

Sheriff Frank L. Coen has returned from Bradford, Pa., where he attended the state convention of the sheriffs of Pennsylvania. In addition to attending the business sessions, the residents of the Bradford community provided considerable entertainment for the law enforcers. Included on the program was the shooting of an oil well, which was interesting to most of those who had never been around the oil country.

CANDIDATES BUSY

Candidates who had not filed their papers for the fall primaries were scurrying around getting final names on the petitions, as Monday was the last day for candidates to file.

Some papers were taken out late in the week, for various offices it is understood, and there was speculation as to who was going to file and who wasn't. Most of the avowed candidates had already filed their papers, however.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Robert E. Beulke of 514 E. Moody avenue, was granted a divorce from Ruth E. Beulke, in decree handed down by Judge W. Walter Braham, Monday morning, in which indignities were charged.

DRIVER FINED

Joseph Holzapfel, who was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was given the usual sentence by the court Monday morning. He was fined $100 and costs, and sentenced to jail for 30 days, the sentence to be commuted to three days providing the fine and costs were paid.
